THREE DAYS OF PONIES, PARTIES AMID PANDEMIC

SEPTEMBER 4, 2020

BY DAVID MULLEN

This Labor Day weekend is about horses, happenings and hope.

The COVID-19 virus has forced the move of the 146th running of the Kentucky Derby to the first Saturday in September from its normal first Saturday in May slot, with some of the noted fanfare but without fans in the stands. Churchill Downs and Dallas restaurants are adapting.

The various locations of Eatzi's offers all the BBQ and outdoor essentials like Grilled Flank Steak or Korean BBQ Chicken Thighs and their signature macaroni and cheese, sun-dried tomato pasta salad or caprese salad for Labor Day celebrations. On Sunday, the café and market feature a fried chicken special.
