BY RACHEL PINN

Instead of braving the grocery store and being stuck in the kitchen during the holidays, consider heading to one of Dallas' finest restaurants instead. The food is probably going to be better, and requires decidedly fewer dishes to do.

From low-key takeout dinners to fancy, pre-ordered feasts, these 14 eateries are keeping the grills warm on Christmas Eve and/or Christmas Day. Go forth, tip big, and celebrate safely.

1. Eatzi's Market & Bakery

Want to eat at home without cooking? Pick up everything at Eatzi's. Order ahead from an extensive menu of appetizers (bacon-mushroom empanadas, mini crab cakes), entrees (roasted turkey, Chateaubriand of beef with port wine demi glace), sides (gruyere and spinach gratin, cornbread stuffing), and desserts (apple pie, buche de Noel) that can be picked up on Christmas Eve. Orders must be placed by phone or in person by December 23, and can be picked up on Christmas Eve. Eatzi's will be closed on December 25.
