Get Your Matzo Ball Soup, Brisket, and Flourless Chocolate Cake To-Go

This year, Passover takes place from Friday, April 15 to Saturday, April 23. This weekend, to celebrate Seder, several Dallas restaurants and delis will be offering Passover dishes and bites to go. Below are a few of our favorite local options when ordering takeout for your celebration.

Eatzi's Market & Bakery

Available between April 14 and 23, Eatzi's is offering takeout Passover meal options. Order sweet and sour braised brisket, lavender glazed salmon, or grilled lamb. Pair with sides including rainbow carrots and potato kugel. There's also a traditional matzo ball soup and flourless chocolate cake.
