Whether you're trying to save money these days or simply don't have enough PTO saved up, there's no reason to get out of Dodge this summer in order to have a good time. Embrace a summer in the city (and the heat!) by setting yourself up for success. Here's what you need to get yourself summer ready for a staycation in Dallas.

8. Plan a Chic Sunset Picnic

Speaking of blankets, summer is the perfect time to plan a sunset picnic. Grab a picnic basket, a pretty tablecloth, and some delicious treats and head to your favorite outdoor spot. Some of our favorite treats can be picked up at Eatzi's, Central Market, and Bird Bakery. Oh, and don't forget to stop by Spec's to grab your favorite bottle of bubbles. Favorite spots to catch a sunset in Dallas include Klyde Warren Park, banks of the Margaret Hunt Hill Bridge and White Rock Lake.
